Working with colleagues in China since 1999

The School of Education’s work has always benefited from a substantial and successful international dimension. The School hosts a large, group of international students from twenty or more countries, including China, every year. Our taught programmes at Leeds consist mostly of Masters and Doctoral level programmes, although we also offer a small number of undergraduate programmes. We are proud of our long tradition of welcoming and working with students and scholars from most parts of the world and run a highly-popular series of social and cultural events throughout the year, specifically aimed at our international students.

Collectively, our staff has considerable first-hand knowledge of China and the East Asian region. This has been gained through practical experience of living and working in countries of that region, as individuals or as members of larger projects concerned with teaching and teacher education, educational management, educational policy planning, and curriculum development and implementation. Current and recent examples of our work in China include:

• A joint, one year, full time, MA TESOL with Guangdong University of Foreign Studies, taught entirely in China since 2003
• Three consecutive one month summer schools for staff from Shanghai International Studies University (SISU)
• Three, ten week, Higher Education Management summer schools for University Vice Presidents and Deans sponsored by the Tianjin Municipal Education Commission
• Four, three month, primary English trainer training programmes as part of Guangdong Provincial Education Bureau’s Primary English Teacher Training programme
• A Feasibility Study for Primary English Teacher Training project in Xiamen
• A Baseline Study for the Guangdong Primary English Teacher Training Project.
• Support for Chinese TEYL trainers on large scale teacher training programmes in Guangzhou
• Supervision of Visiting Scholars from Xinjiang, Shandong and Shaanxi

Research
Research is central to the mission of the School of Education. We undertake research in key areas of educational policy and practice and place particular emphasis on the relevance of our work to education practitioners and policymakers internationally. We currently have full time research students from China and several other countries in East and South East Asia. Staff and research students enjoy working together in a vibrant research environment, supported by excellent research facilities. Research students are expected to participate fully in the School’s research work and to participate and present at the annual Students’ Research Conference.

The School hosts a number of Research Units, Centres and Institutes which are known around the world. Research is organised around the following areas:

• Language Education
• Mathematics Education
• Science Education
• Human Rights and Citizenship
• ICT in Education
• Inclusive Education
• Lifelong Learning
  (including post-14 education and higher education)

Research Centres
Research in these areas is reflected in the School’s cross-disciplinary research centres:
• Assessment and Evaluation Unit (AEU)
• Centre for Citizenship and Human Rights Education (CCHRE)
• Centre for Language Education Research (CLER)
• Centre for Studies in Science and Mathematics Education (CSSME)
• Centre for Policy Studies in Education (CPSE)
• Higher Education Policy Unit (HEPU)
• Lifelong Learning Institute (LLI)

Leeds welcomes students from China
The University of Leeds offers a truly multicultural study environment with 15% of its student population coming from outside the United Kingdom. The University is committed to providing an excellent service for international students through:
• an active International Centre which brings together students from across the globe and is a source of guidance, information and support, as well as a great place to meet friends www.leeds.ac.uk/international/
• guaranteed university accommodation for all new single international students from outside the European Union
• meet and greet arrangements for students arriving at local airport, bus and train stations at the beginning of the academic year, followed by an ‘Intro week’ in September full of activities and events designed to introduce international students to the University and to help them settle smoothly into life at Leeds
• an outstanding Language Centre which offers courses to help international students improve their language skills
• an active Chinese Society through University of Leeds Students Union, see www.luuonline.com/studentactivities/faithandculturegroups/chinese.php
