As one of the largest departments of its kind in the UK, the School of Education at the University of Leeds offers excellent, research-informed teaching and the best possible pastoral support, as confirmed by our ‘full marks’ rating of 24/24 in our most recent assessment of teaching quality.

The School hosts a large, group of international students every year, including many from the Gulf region. Our taught programmes at Leeds consist mostly of Masters and Doctoral level programmes, although we also offer undergraduate programmes and have been running a BA programme in Oman for almost ten years.

The School of Education’s work has always benefited from a substantial and successful international dimension. We are proud of our long tradition of welcoming and working with students from all over the world. This has been acknowledged in the Quality Assurance Agency’s recent report on the School’s work, which highlighted our strong relationships with a wide range of international institutions.

Collectively, our staff have first-hand knowledge of many of the countries of the Middle East. This has been gained through practical experience of living and working in such countries, as individuals or as members of larger projects concerned with teaching and teacher education, educational management, educational policy planning, and curriculum development and implementation.

Current and recent examples of our work in the Middle East include:

- An ongoing agreement with the Ministry of Education in Oman to provide a BA Educational Studies (TESOL) programme for Omani English teachers
- Consultancies and short courses for the Ministry of Education in Saudi Arabia related to the introduction of English at primary level
- Consultancies for the Ministry of Education in Bahrain related to mentoring

Research Degrees

- Doctor of Education (EdD)
- Doctor of Philosophy (PhD)
- Master of Philosophy in Education (MPhil)

Masters and Postgraduate Diploma/Certificate Programmes

- MA Deaf Education
- MA Teaching
- MA Education (General Programme)
- MA TESOL
- MA Education and Democracy
- MA TESOL and ICT
- MA International Education Management
- MA TESOL for Young Learners

The School hosts a large, group of international students every year, including many from the Gulf region. Our taught programmes at Leeds consist mostly of Masters and Doctoral level programmes, although we also offer undergraduate programmes and have been running a BA programme in Oman for almost ten years.

The School of Education’s work has always benefited from a substantial and successful international dimension. We are proud of our long tradition of welcoming and working with students from all over the world. This has been acknowledged in the Quality Assurance Agency’s recent report on the School’s work, which highlighted our strong relationships with a wide range of international institutions.

Collectively, our staff have first-hand knowledge of many of the countries of the Middle East. This has been gained through practical experience of living and working in such countries, as individuals or as members of larger projects concerned with teaching and teacher education, educational management, educational policy planning, and curriculum development and implementation.

Current and recent examples of our work in the Middle East include:

- An ongoing agreement with the Ministry of Education in Oman to provide a BA Educational Studies (TESOL) programme for Omani English teachers
- Consultancies and short courses for the Ministry of Education in Saudi Arabia related to the introduction of English at primary level
- Consultancies for the Ministry of Education in Bahrain related to mentoring

Research Degrees

- Doctor of Education (EdD)
- Doctor of Philosophy (PhD)
- Master of Philosophy in Education (MPhil)

Masters and Postgraduate Diploma/Certificate Programmes

- MA Deaf Education
- MA Teaching
- MA Education (General Programme)
- MA TESOL
- MA Education and Democracy
- MA TESOL and ICT
- MA International Education Management
- MA TESOL for Young Learners

The School hosts a large, group of international students every year, including many from the Gulf region. Our taught programmes at Leeds consist mostly of Masters and Doctoral level programmes, although we also offer undergraduate programmes and have been running a BA programme in Oman for almost ten years.

The School of Education’s work has always benefited from a substantial and successful international dimension. We are proud of our long tradition of welcoming and working with students from all over the world. This has been acknowledged in the Quality Assurance Agency’s recent report on the School’s work, which highlighted our strong relationships with a wide range of international institutions.

Collectively, our staff have first-hand knowledge of many of the countries of the Middle East. This has been gained through practical experience of living and working in such countries, as individuals or as members of larger projects concerned with teaching and teacher education, educational management, educational policy planning, and curriculum development and implementation.

Current and recent examples of our work in the Middle East include:

- An ongoing agreement with the Ministry of Education in Oman to provide a BA Educational Studies (TESOL) programme for Omani English teachers
- Consultancies and short courses for the Ministry of Education in Saudi Arabia related to the introduction of English at primary level
- Consultancies for the Ministry of Education in Bahrain related to mentoring

Research Degrees

- Doctor of Education (EdD)
- Doctor of Philosophy (PhD)
- Master of Philosophy in Education (MPhil)

Masters and Postgraduate Diploma/Certificate Programmes

- MA Deaf Education
- MA Teaching
- MA Education (General Programme)
- MA TESOL
- MA Education and Democracy
- MA TESOL and ICT
- MA International Education Management
Postgraduate Certificate Programmes

- PG Certificate in Clinical Teaching
- PG Certificate in Co-ordinating Inclusive Provision for Children with Learning Difficulties
- PG Certificate in Provision for Children with Developmental Disorders
- Postgraduate Certificate in Education (Further Education)

Undergraduate degree programme

- BA (Hons) Childhood Education and Culture
- Certificate in Education (Further Education)

Research

Research is central to the mission of the School of Education. We undertake research in key areas of educational policy and practice, and place particular emphasis on the relevance of our work to education practitioners and policymakers internationally. We currently have full time research students from Saudi Arabia, Oman, Bahrain, Libya and Kuwait.

Staff and research students enjoy working together in a vibrant research environment, supported by excellent research facilities. Research Students are expected to participate fully in the School’s research work and to participate and present at the annual Students’ Research Conference.

The School hosts a number of Research Units, Centres and Institutes which are known around the world. Research is organized around the following areas:

- Human Rights and Citizenship
- ICT in Education
- Inclusive Education
- Language Education
- Lifelong Learning (including post-14 education and higher education)
- Mathematics Education
- Science Education

Research Centres

Research in these areas is reflected in the School’s cross-disciplinary research centres:

- Assessment and Evaluation Unit (AU)
- Centre for Citizenship and Human Rights Education (CCHRE)
- Centre for Language Education Research (CLER)
- Centre for Studies in Science and Mathematics Education (CSSME)
- Centre for Policy Studies in Education (CPSE)
- Higher Education Policy Unit (HEPU)
- Lifelong Learning Institute (LLI)

Leeds welcomes students from the Gulf region

The University of Leeds offers a truly multicultural study environment with 15% of its student population coming from outside the United Kingdom. The University is committed to providing an excellent service for international students through:

- an active International Centre which brings together students from across the globe and a source of guidance, information and support, as well as a great place to meet friends
- guaranteed accommodation for all new single international students from outside the European Union
- meet and greet arrangements for students arriving at local airport, bus and train stations, followed by September’s Intro-week – a week of activities and events designed to introduce international students to the University and to help them settle smoothly into life at Leeds
- an outstanding Language Centre, which offers courses to help international students improve their language skills

For further information

Find out about our entry requirements and how to apply for a place on one of our programmes at:

www.education.leeds.ac.uk/prospective/

Student Admissions Tel +44 (0)113 343 4550
Email courses@education.leeds.ac.uk

Leeds welcomes students from the Gulf region

The University of Leeds offers a truly multicultural study environment with 15% of its student population coming from outside the United Kingdom. The University is committed to providing an excellent service for international students through:

- an active International Centre which brings together students from across the globe and a source of guidance, information and support, as well as a great place to meet friends
- guaranteed accommodation for all new single international students from outside the European Union
- meet and greet arrangements for students arriving at local airport, bus and train stations, followed by September’s Intro-week – a week of activities and events designed to introduce international students to the University and to help them settle smoothly into life at Leeds
- an outstanding Language Centre, which offers courses to help international students improve their language skills

For further information

Find out about our entry requirements and how to apply for a place on one of our programmes at:

www.education.leeds.ac.uk/prospective/

Student Admissions Tel +44 (0)113 343 4550
Email courses@education.leeds.ac.uk

Leeds welcomes students from the Gulf region

The University of Leeds offers a truly multicultural study environment with 15% of its student population coming from outside the United Kingdom. The University is committed to providing an excellent service for international students through:

- an active International Centre which brings together students from across the globe and a source of guidance, information and support, as well as a great place to meet friends
- guaranteed accommodation for all new single international students from outside the European Union
- meet and greet arrangements for students arriving at local airport, bus and train stations, followed by September’s Intro-week – a week of activities and events designed to introduce international students to the University and to help them settle smoothly into life at Leeds
- an outstanding Language Centre, which offers courses to help international students improve their language skills

For further information

Find out about our entry requirements and how to apply for a place on one of our programmes at:

www.education.leeds.ac.uk/prospective/

Student Admissions Tel +44 (0)113 343 4550
Email courses@education.leeds.ac.uk